

MILICA BOSKOVIC
Senior Project Consultant
Millstein Center for Corporate Governance and Performance
Yale School of Management

Milica Boskovic is the Senior Project Consultant for the Millstein Center for Corporate Governance and Performance. She provides input and works on the Center's major annual projects, like the Performance, Risk, and Integrity conference. She previously helped to launch and develop the Center as its first Executive Director. Milica is also currently the Director for Strengthening NYC Nonprofits at United Way NYC – an initiative with the City of New York

Prior to joining the Yale School of Management as the Executive Director of the Millstein Center in July 2006, Milica was the Deputy Director and Researcher/Writer for the New York State Commission on Public Authority Reform. The Commission, established by Governor Pataki to review New York's public authorities and make recommendations on their governance and accountability, issued its final report in June 2006. Draft legislation has been submitted based on the recommendations issued in that report.

Ms. Boskovic has previously held the positions of Director of the Division for International Business for the New York City Mayor's Office, Director of Marketing at the Weissman Center for International Business at Baruch College/CUNY, Editor of two editions of the International Business in New York City Directory, and as a Journalist at the Voice of America.

Milica has a Master's degree from Columbia University School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) in International Media and Communications, focusing on Media and Transparency. She has a previous Master's degree in International Political Economy, and is pursuing a PhD, from the City University of New York. Her Bachelor's degree in Politics and History was received from New York University.
